

BERKELEY GRADUATE DIVISION PRESENTS

BERKELEY GRADUATE LECTURES

HEIDLYNNE LEWIS

Nina Jablonski

Evan Pugh University Professor of Anthropology
The Pennsylvania State University

Tuesday, February 28, 2017

The Real 'Skin in the Game': The History of Naked, Sweaty, and Colorful Skin in the Human Lineage

Wednesday, March 1, 2017

The Cost of Color: The Health and Social Consequences of Skin Color for People

International House, Chevron Auditorium
2299 Piedmont Avenue, Berkeley Campus
4:10 pm

Free Admission

Wheelchair accessible. For disability-related accommodation, email lectures@berkeley.edu or call 510.643.7413 ten days in advance.
Official University poster (remove 3/2/17).

ABOUT THE CHARLES M. & MARTHA HITCHCOCK LECTURES

In 1885, the Hitchcock Endowment Fund was established from a bequest made by Dr. Charles M. Hitchcock to institute a professorship at the University of California for free lectures upon scientific and practical subjects. Dr. Hitchcock, whose longstanding interest in education inspired his contribution, was a physician and served as medical director of the Pacific Coast in the United States Army Medical Corps. The Hitchcock Foundation Lectures began in 1909 and were later expanded and retitled the Charles M. and Martha Hitchcock Lectures in 1932, thanks to a generous bequest from Dr. Hitchcock's daughter, Lillie Hitchcock Coit.